Murdered Boy's Father Witness at the Hearing

boards, the bloodstained flooring of the automobile in which young Frank was killed. What remained of the boy's clothing, a belt and a few other bits of equally gruesome evidence, were in the case, as well as all the other material evidence collected by police in the metal container.

Crowe Demands Death Penalty.
Attorneys Darrow and Bachrach came into the room ten minutes before the hour set for opening. The State's attorneys were also on hand and Mr. Crowe let it be known that he would conclude his opening statement with a demand for the death penalty. The State's first witnesses turned on hand while the experts testified by the defense at where they could observe the actions of the defendants. With Mr. Darrow came Jacob Leob, uncle of Richard, Allan Leob, brother, and Nathan Leopold, Sr.

Court was called promptly to order at 10 a. m.

"Find seats everybody," said the clerk.
Judge Caverly announced that proper legal formalities had not been complied with Monday when the boys changed their pleas to "guilty." He summoned them to the bar and in long legal phraseology asked them again separately if they realized the consequences of their action.

"I do, your honor," said Leopold, and Leob replied in like manner.
The boys listened to the judge's reading intently and answered in a clear firm voice. After the judge's statement the defendants returned to their seats and conferred smilingly with their attorneys.

Attorneys in Wrangle
"The bailiffs will not permit any one else to enter," said Judge Caverly.

"The state is ready to proceed with the murder hearing but asks a continuance on the separate hearing," said Mr. Crowe.

"Object," said Mr. Bachrach. "This is not a real trial and there should be no separation of the two cases."

"If this is not a trial, what is it?" commented Mr. Crowe.

A wrangle finally brought an agreement to proceed with the murder indictment while keeping the other charge "on call from day to day."

Mr. Crowe then started his opening statement. He dealt upon the identity and up bringing of the defendants.

"They behaved in accord with standards of their social set except that they developed a mania for gambling for his stakes," said Mr. Crowe.

"The evidence will show that from this, they retrograded to the point where they could commit a cold blooded murder."

Crime Planned for Months
Mr. Crowe said that the crime was planned and schemed for months.

He said that they threw a compact bundle of newspapers from a train to learn where it would land so they might instruct the father of their victim how to throw ransom money to them.

Mr. Crowe told of Leob's retelling at the Morrison Hotel under an assumed name and how the suit case he left in the room contained books from the University of Chicago library.

He then described how the boys rented the automobile in which the crime was committed. Leopold applied for the car under the name of "Morton D. Ballard," the same as that used by Leob when he registered at the hotel.

They also referred to "Lewis Mason" at a telephone number of a delicatessen store where Leob, according to Mr. Crowe, waited to receive inquiries and to receive Ballard's order.

They took the car first on May 9 and then on May 21, their plans complete, again hired the car.

"Model Legion" Is Read.
Mr. Crowe said Leopold and Leob had discussed the feasibility of kidnapping different boys, among them William Deutsch, grandson of the head of Sears, Roebuck and company, and the son of a prominent Chicago attorney.

He said that the boys read a model letter which was drafted by Leopold and Leob in their study of means and methods. It was practically identical with the missive which reached Jacob Frank's day after his son was killed.

Mr. Crowe said that the boys followed up the letter by a letter designed to instruct the father of the victim how to throw ransom money to them.

After two pages of large, red-inked, blocky letters, the boys rapidly as possible and then threw the package least as fast as they could.

Mr. Crowe said that the evidence would show that Leopold and Leob decided to murder their victim first and demand ransom afterwards.

He said they got their equipment, a bag, some tape, ropes, a chisel and acid to disfigure their victim.

Mr. Crowe told how "these instruments of death" were transferred from their own car to the rented machine.

Then they went to the Harvard School," he said, "talked with some of the boys and instructors and decided to do away with Johnny Levinson."

He said that fortunately for Levinson he went home by an unexpected route.

"But there was another boy there, a boy who on the day before had played tennis with Leob in the latter's yard," Mr. Crowe said.

Describes the Murder
"Come in, Bobby," we'll ride you home," said Leob. "No, I prefer to walk," said Bobby.

"Come on, I want to talk about your tennis racket," said Leob, and Bobby went to his death.

"They turned the corner and at once the poor, little innocent boy was struck on the head and while still gasping for breath, Leopold reached over from the back seat, seized him by the throat and squeezed the last life from his fragile body."

Mr. Crowe then described the trip to the railroad culvert and told how the murderers removed shoes, stockings and trousers from their victim, completing the undressing after they reached the culvert.

Leopold took the body and forced it face downward into the drain," he said, adding that efforts to erase the features with acid failed because of water in the culvert.

The methods by which Leob and Leopold tried to destroy all traces of the crime were described.

Mr. Crowe said that the belt buckle, tie clasp and shoes were separated from the rest of the clothing.

The car was burned in the Leob home furnace. A blood-stained robe was reserved, lest its odor saturate the house.

The metal objects were buried, the robe saturated with gasoline and put in a lonely spot on the lake shore, where it was set fire.

"The next day they tried to wash blood from the hired car," said Mr. Crowe. "Your honor will be shown that car and the partially erased stains."

He told how the ransom letter was mailed and the first telephone message sent to Mrs. Jacob Frank, reassuring her: "Your son has been kidnapped. He is safe; don't worry until later."

Mr. Crowe said Leob started the second letter to Mr. Frank and the latter was then told by telephone to enter a taxi and drive to certain drug store and await instructions.

"But," said Mr. Crowe, "Mr. Frank had just learned of the finding of his boy's body and he did not go. Headlines in newspapers informed him of these criminal conspirators of that fact and they abandoned their plan to collect the $10,000 ransom."

The police efforts to solve the mystery were detailed, the tracing of the spectacles found near the body back to Leopold and the damaging admissions made in the first questioning of the defendants as suspects.

He said that Leopold had given an opinion, based on his visits to the vicinity of the culvert on bird trips that no one could find the culvert in the dark even by accident.

Mr. Crowe then described the "one week alibi" which the murderers concocted. It included a fake trip to study a species of gull and a "joy ride" with whiskey, gin and "pick up" girls as accomplishments.

Next was related the tracing of the spectacles to Leopold, how he had acknowledged the close resemblance of the glasses found at the culvert to those he wore.

Finally he had acknowledged their probable ownership and tried to explain "their loss."

"He purposely tripped to demonstrate that spectacles would fall from his pocket," said Mr. Crowe. "But the glasses remained in the pocket of the coat. Finally he was asked to put the coat on the floor, pick it up by the tails and the glasses fell out."

"The evidence will show that the glasses were lost just that way. Leopold washed the blood from his hands, asked Dick Leob to pass him his coat and in the darkness Leob picked it up by the tails and the glasses slipped out."

Mr. Crowe's recital of the investigation went into details of the treatment of the boys, including how the families were allowed to talk with them, send them fresh clothing and pay for meals.

"We learned from reporters of the Chicago Daily News that Leopold had had been used in preparing university work with four other students," said Mr. Crowe.

He described Leopold's vain attempt to fasten ownership on Leon Marshall, 2nd, a fellow student, then on Edward J. Murphy, a fellow student, now in England, Leopold's family chauffeur, shattered the alibi by revealing that the automobile supposed to have been used on the "joy ride" was in the Leopold garage.

Then Mr. Crowe told of Dick Leob's breakdown.

"He asked me why he was being held," said Mr. Crowe. "I told him it was because the state's attorney was fanning a web around Leopold and when that was done Leob would be in the case because he had said he was with Leopold throughout May 21."

"Leob was told what circumstances were known and he exclaimed: 'My God, give me a glass of water.' He was given the water and then said: 'Now I'll tell you the absolute truth.'"

"Then Leopold was informed that Dick was talking."

"My God," he ejaculated. Dick Leob will stick until hell freezes over." But he was convinced and started his story.

Each accused the other of being the actual murderer and sought to save his own neck.

In bitter terms the state's attorney denounced the defendants' efforts to fasten suspicion on others.

"To show the abandoned and malignant heart in the body of Dick Leob, note please, your honor, that he told newspaper reporters he knew Robert Frank and added: 'If anyone was going to kidnap anyone, he is just the cocky kind of a kid one would pick.'"

"And even the nthe boy was cold in death."

"And in the name of fatherhood and motherhood and childhood of the state we demand the death penalty for both these cold blooded murderers."

Mr. Darrow arose.

"Cold blooded and vicious are terms in the litany of all state attorneys and nothing else," he said.

"The State's attorney knows that this was not the most atrocious crime ever committed in this country."

Mr. Crowe objected that it was not time to argue but to make a statement only.

Mr. Darrow agreed with the court that he would not go beyond objections and his opening statement at this stage.

"I was outraged, your honor, that the State's attorney should have started to stir up fear and hatred in this community," said Mr. Darrow.

"We object that all the evidence which the State offers is incompetent and meant only for an appeal to passions and prejudices. This is a hearing and we ask that it be confined to procedure proper to such a stage of any criminal case."

Edwin M. Gresham, uncle of Robert Frank, took the stand and told of identifying the body of his nephew. He was not cross-examined.

Jacob Frank, father of the murdered boy, controlled his emotions well, as he described the last time he had seen his son leave home for school.

He recognized in a body at an undertaker's the corpse of his son.

He identified a pair of brown canvas tennis slippers as worn by the boy with tan stockings and a belt buckle.

A blue neck tie, with white stripes, was recognized as "my boy's" as was at a school picnic. He identified too, the "ransom letters" sent by Leob and Leopold and signed George Johnson.

The letter was read into the record. It called for $10,000 of which $5,000 was to be in fifty dollar bills and the rest in twenties "all old bills."

"This is a strictly commercial undertaking," said the letter. Should you carry out these instructions, we can assure you your son will be safely returned within six hours."

Court recessed until 2 p. m.

JUSTICE CAVERLY IS OUTSTANDING FIGURE
By CLARENCE DAWSON
(Copyright, 1934, by The Bee)

CHICAGO, July 23.—Chief Justice John R. Caverly of the criminal court has become the big outstanding figure in the Leopold-Leob case.

One of the Leopold-Leob case is the surprising outburst of the defendant in entering pleas of guilty and inviting the mercy of the court.

If the tremendous responsibility suddenly placed upon him came as a surprise to Justice Caverly he gave no indication of the fact. Studying his face as he warned the accused youths that their action in leaving a trial by jury made it possible for the court to impose the death penalty, one gained the impression, first of all, of great strength. In this, as in all of his characteristics, Justice Caverly is in direct contrast to the defendants.

He is a thick-set, powerful, middle-aged man with a broad forehead and square jaw, keen, steady eyes gaze forth beneath heavy brows.

Justice Caverly was born in England sixty-three years ago and came to Chicago with his parents when he was six years old. He has a long and enviable record both as a city attorney and as a magistrate. As attorney for the city of Chicago in 1907 he broke up a ring of grafters whom he called "fools and money."

CONFERENCES HELD BY COOLIDGE AND LEADERS

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Republican campaign activities in Washington today simmered down to conferences between President Coolidge and various leaders and to preparations for the ceremonies to be held three weeks from tomorrow for the purpose of formally notifying Mr. Coolidge of his nomination.

Mr. Coolidge, having received a report from William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, on the general situation was prepared to continue his discussion of conditions with state leaders.

had muted the city out of nearly $4,000,000 in eight years. And it was he, after he had mounted the bench, who sentenced to the house of correction, the notorious Eddie Jacobson, "Eddie the Immune" who had boasted for years that he could not be convicted.

In another case Justice Caverly compelled the state to withdraw its demand for capital punishment of a woman who had killed her husband, saying: "This is an American court. To ask that a woman be hanged is British procedure."

When Clarence Darrow, chief attorney for the defense, withdrew the plea of not guilty and entered the plea of guilty with the statement that "we dislike to throw this burden upon this court, out of the wisdom of his 37 years of experience as a practicing lawyer in Chicago that the burden could not be thrown on to more capable shoulders."

Public sentiment against the slaying of the Franks boy is strong and feeling now is that they should pay for the full penalty for their crime. But the full penalty for their crime, after hearing that "mitigating" evidence to be offered by the defense, that their punishment should be less heavy, there will be few who will question the justice of his decision.

Such is the confidence Chicago has in its chief justice of its criminal court.

Returned From Roanoke

Miss Alice Jefferson, of this city, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. P. C. Bernard, of Roanoke, for six weeks, has returned home. Miss Jefferson also spent several days with Mrs. W. G. Bernard, at Rocky Mount, Va. She was accompanied home by Miss Lulu Bernard, who will be her guest for several days. Miss Bernard is the sister of Mrs. P. C. Bernard.

Visiting In Carolina

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. McGuire and their daughter, Miss Doris, and James, accompanied by their niece, Mrs. L. A. Becker, have just returned from a delightful motor-ride through North Carolina, visiting friends and relatives in Greensboro, Raleigh, Durham and Zebulon.

Banner Won by Sunday School Class

The Anti-Fidelis school class of Moffett Memorial church, held its monthly business meeting last evening at the church and much business was transacted. This was a very enthusiastic meeting, the class having won the banner last week at the Baptist Encampment held at Virginia Beach, as the best organized Sunday school class in the state of Virginia. The five girls, who were sent as delegates from the class to the Encampment, were present and gave splendid reports. This class of six-four girls feel it due to the wonderful leadership and work of their teacher that they won this banner, while she thoroughly appreciates the co-operation on the part of her girls. The name Anti-Fidelis was added to the class by their teacher, therefore, the class by their work, or office she is called upon to fill. Delightful refreshments were served during the evening.

Going To The Springs

Col. Oliver W. Dudley, Col. A. B. Carrington, Col. Decatur Holcombe and Squire Henry B. Watkins plan leaving here tomorrow for Patrick Springs to escape the present heat. These four well-known gentlemen make an annual pilgrimage to the mountain resort where their ability as whist players is conceded.

Picnic At Crystal Lake

The young women of class 15, of Mount Vernon church Sunday school, with their teacher, Mrs. J. C. Roberts, enjoyed a picnic at Crystal Lake yesterday evening. After a swim in the lake, supper was served, followed later in the evening with a feast of melons.

Those present were: Miss Janie Bessie Haraway, Eva Tanner, Judith and Empress Talbot, Thelma and Elsie Hagg, Price Norman, Louise Roane, Hope Hodnett, Matilda Marian Travis, Susie Hodnett, Matilda Taylor, Alva, Lea, Annie Barnes, Durham, Anna Lea, Ethel Corbin, Mrs. Gus Dyer, Mary and Violet Christianson, Mamie Breeden, Vera Bondurant, Temple Riddick, Mary Evans, Mrs. E. ### Even: Of The Week

The song recital to be given by Miss Gladys Lea, soprano, and Sam Soars, accompanist, next Thursday evening at Sunnyside Home, is looked forward to with great pleasure. Miss Lea is a gifted singer who has already made a name for herself among the most gifted artists of the day and is one whom Danville delights to hear. The recital Thursday evening will be given from the long veranda of the Home, giving the audience the added pleasure of listening to music out-of-doors. Miss

Lea has studied with such famous teachers as Madame Calve, Elnora Scheib, and others, and will resume her studies in New York next fall.

To Massanetta Springs

Mrs. J. W. Cook and Miss Helen Cook, Dr. Joseph M. Dugliss and Norman Cook, have gone to Massanetta Springs to attend a Young People's conference.

In Honor of Miss Patterson

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Patterson gave a most delightful supper-party at their home, near Danville, last Saturday evening, the honoree being their daughter, Miss Edna Patterson, who is spending her vacation from Edmunds Hospital Training School for Nurses. A very delightful program of vocal and instrumental music was enjoyed, after which supper was served. The following guests were present: Miss Edna Patterson, Misses Rebecca Roach, Anna Mobley, Mesdames Kate Eggleston and Alice Gammon, Mr. Webb and Mr. Stanley, of Danville, Mrs. G. H. Riddle, of Stoneville, Virginia, and Mrs. L. R. Riddle, of Granite City, Ill.

MOVIE ATTENDANCE DROPS

1915 20,000,000 DAILY ATTENDANCE
1924 5,000,000 DAILY ATTENDANCE

By THE NEA PLAY JURY

NEW YORK, July 23.—If the information reaching the Jury is correct, then the motion picture industry in this country is facing a serious problem.

It seems that the average daily attendance in movie houses in this country has dropped from 20,000,000 in 1915 to 5,000,000 today. This figure is based on a man high in the distribution branch of the industry.

That's a startling item. The informant goes on to say that the high admission prices are to blame for this sharp drop in attendance, and are inclined to agree.

It is made to reduce the price of admission, the earning capacity of the industry is to rise.

It is pointed out that there are 40,000,000 income earners in this country and that 66 per cent of them earn less than $2000 a year. They represent the mass of the picture audience. They are the ones whose nickels and dimes made the industry what it is today, and now because their earnings haven't increased, they find themselves financially barred from attending the movies as often as they formerly did and as often as they would like to.

"Let us remember," this distributor says, "that the movies are the amusement of the masses and not allow ourselves to be too much disturbed by the opinions and whims of the classes. Your uplift or class element makes ten times as much noise as your mass but the latter buy ten times as many picture theater admissions."

"The motion picture industry will not be oversteered if we bring back the 15,000,000 daily customers who have strayed away, and they can be brought back by frequent changes of good, clean pictures that are fit for the whole family to see, exhibited at prices that the poor man can afford to pay."

That he is not altogether philanthropic he proves by adding that exhibitors will agree there was more money in the "old days" when pictures were shown to large audiences and low admissions, than there is today with orchestras, prologues and high admission prices.

New York has just witnessed a revival of a melodrama originally produced in London in 1842, "Sweeney Todd," by George D. Pitt, was the vehicular brought out of the attic for the theatrical fare of the modern theatergoer. And like most revivals, "Sweeney Todd" has proved to be a modern that many plays of today are merely adaptations of these olden times. The mystery play, the crook play of today, is very little different. "Leah Kleinsch," was another of this stripe.

This is a good time to look over the field and see what's what. There are 20 productions on the boards now. Of these 10 are musical shows, six are comedies, and the others might be classed as serious drama. They are holdovers from the last season. Only a few are new summer shows.

Twenty shows might sound like a good many to most non-New Yorkers. But during the regular season, the average number at one time in New York is 60.

U. S. Long Distance calling.

"This is Mr. Prescott's secretary talking, Mrs. Atherton. May I take the message?"

"Party wants to speak to him personally. When do you expect him in?"

"I'll get him."

"This is Mr. Prescott speaking. Put the party on the line."

"Go ahead."

"Hello. Hello. Mr. Prescott speaking."

"Jacques this is Paula."

"Oh, hello, Paula. Glad to hear your voice."

"Are you really, Jack? I did not tell Sydney that I was going to talk to you. I knew he would throw cold water on it."

"What do you want to say to me, dear?"

"You know very well. I want you to let me give that money to little Jack."

"But I can't do that, Paula. How would I look?"

"That's it. You men are always asking and being afraid of how it would look to other people. I see no reason why I should not give as much money as I please to my own child. Besides, it can be fixed so no one will know it, not even your sweet wife."

"But, Paula, don't you understand that Jack is not your child any more? He has been legally adopted by Leslie."

"Of course I know that, Jack. But I think you should not remind me of it; besides, I am sure if Leslie knew about it she would take the money from me. I wish now that I had spoken to her instead of asking things up with their silly vanity. I might have known that two men would have spoiled everything."

"But, Paula, I have money enough to support my own child."

"Of course, Jack. I know that, but don't you realize that I am making a great deal of money, more than I can spend, and it is the greatest pleasure you could give me; in fact, the only one that can make me to me to be a child."

"If you put it that way, Paula, I will have to consider it. Mind, I'm not saying that I am going to do it, but when old Syd comes back we will talk it over. I want to congratulate you, my dear, on your great success. I wonder how it would feel to have more money than one knew what to do with."

"The one thing that you feel most, Jacques, is that there are some things that money cannot buy. If you will let me buy with it a part of my child's education I will bless you as long as I live. I would like to send my love to Leslie, but she must not know that I have phoned you. I will send Sydney Carter right away to you and he can talk the matter over. Goodnight."

Fashions Forecast

AN ALL-OCCASION DESIGN

If you play tennis, make this dress of tub silk—a candy striped or gay colored one would be nice.

If you want a morning dress to wear to market or about the house these warm days, make it of cotton crepe, gingham or chambray. Then you'll not be ashamed of your appearance when you stop to exchange a bit of news with your next door neighbor.

How about a printed summer silk, voile or dotted Swiss for afternoons when you go shopping, trip to the beach or visit for tea?

The pattern for No. 2134 cuts in sizes 16 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. In the 36-inch size, 3 1/2 yards of 30 inch goods with 3/4 yard of 36-inch contrasting is required. Price 15c in stamps or coin (coin preferred).

Address: Pattern Department, Care of the Register.

From the way they tussle about the floor, "dance hall" is correct.

CHECK GROCERY BILLS
Check your grocery bills as they are received and keep them on a nail near the table where you receive them.

EXAMINE YOUR STARCH
Be sure that the starch for laundry purposes is well cooked and free from lumps.

LAUNDRY WORK
Laundry work should be done in a separate room for that purpose if possible. To do it in the kitchen makes extra work.

RINSE THOROUGHLY
Rinse clothes thoroughly or they will look gray and smell of soap.

FREE FROM RUST
Irons should be kept free from rust and very smooth.

NOT DESPONDENT OVER SHOTGUN INTERRUPTION
(By The Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS, July 22.—Persistence netted three bandits $700 in a filling station robbery yesterday. Arroused from his slumbers by the noise of a sledge hammer beating a tattoo on the safe of a Standard oil suburban filling station, Oliver Peterson, a neighbor, fired three shots in the direction of the noise. Three men darted from the building. Peterson went back to sleep. This morning it was discovered that the bandits returned and finished the job, escaping with the contents of the safe.

To win new friends

100 Lucky Strikes

TAX FREE

We invite every smoker in this city to take advantage of this startling offer.

We've told you about Lucky Strike superiority.

Your friends have told you. Now know for yourself the value of the toasting process!

We make this proposition to win new friends:

The regular price of a tin of 100 Lucky Strikes is 75¢

You pay the dealer only 45¢

We pay the Government Tax of 30¢

Act quickly, as the dealer's allotment at this price is limited.

Get one tin [only one to a person] for home or for office.

The regular price will be in effect when the dealer's supply on this offer is sold.

Smoke these 100 Lucky Strikes. Then you'll know how the 45-minute toasting process adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

LUCKY STRIKE

Cleanliness and Care in Manufacture

Every Lucky Strike factory is a model of sanitation. And now Alfred W. McCann, the noted food expert describes one of our factories: "White walls and ceilings, floors as clean as freshly chiseled marble, cutting machines and wrapping machines that take away from the human hand all detail and leave nothing to the human supervision but the watchfulness of trained eyes."

Facts About Taxes on Cigarettes

WE call particular attention to the statements made in the advertisement adjoining this editorial column.

This advertisement, the purpose of which is to win new friends for Lucky Strike cigarettes, incidentally emphasizes the matter of high taxes on cigarettes.

To those who are intimate with such matters there is, of course, no surprising statement made.

To the general public, though, we believe it will be surprising to learn that nearly half of what they pay for cigarettes goes to the government for taxes.

The internal revenue stamp on a package of twenty Lucky Strike cigarettes costs you six cents. On a tin of one hundred the revenue stamp costs you thirty cents.

So nearly fifty cents out of every dollar you spend for cigarettes is spent by you for taxes.

This is certainly the heaviest tax on an article of daily and universal consumption.

The Tobacco Industry and Taxes

The aggregate tax paid by the tobacco business is with one exception, income taxes, the largest item of internal revenue the federal government receives. Last (fiscal) year it amounted to $309,014,060.84.

Of this enormous amount of money the cigarette industry paid $182,715,735.93, or nearly two-thirds of the total tax paid by the entire tobacco business.

The immediately important point of the foregoing is the following: We believe you will appreciate that when nearly fifty cents of every dollar paid by you for cigarettes goes to the government, you must receive in cigarettes a value in return for your money that is rarely given in any commodity.

That the public generally appreciates this great value is shown by the enormous increase in the consumption of cigarettes.

Our reasons for this tax free offer

We know this offer induces men to try Lucky Strikes—it "Wins New Friends."

We know that a large percentage of those who get acquainted with Lucky Strikes adopt them.

This isn't philanthropy nor propaganda—just good business, as you'll agree.

The offer is limited. We cannot afford to keep it up.

We make it sensationally generous so as to attract attention.

We are not giving money away for the offer accomplishes its purposes: Lucky Strike "Wins New Friends." Our volume increases.

Super-quality

It is only by immense volume that we can produce such an aristocratic cigarette as Lucky Strike at such a democratic price.

Its quality is supreme because it has that costly, extra process, toasting, which improves the flavor and adds to the taste of even the finest tobaccos that are used in Lucky Strikes.

We urge you to participate in this offer—we want you to get acquainted with Lucky Strikes.

We know a trial will make you a permanent customer of ours.

IN FIRST WIN SECOND GAME
(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 22.—Chicago and Boston divided a double header today, the visitors taking the first 3 to 1 and the locals the second 8 to 1. Tim McNamara pitched in great form in the opener, holding the Cubs to three scattered hits, while his team mated bunched hits behind a walk and an error. "Gabby" Hartnett cracked out two homers in the second game giving him a total of fifteen for the season.

DICKERMAN PITCHES WELL
BUT CARDINALS LOSE 5 TO 2

ST. LOUIS, July 22.—The Philadelphia Nationals came from behind again today and defeated the Cardinals 5 to 2 in the third straight game of the series. Dickerman held the visitors to five hits, but three of them came in the ninth and resulted in four runs. An error by Hornsby paved the way for the rally. Showing his appreciation for a traveling bag presented at the plate by a party of friends, Joe Schatz, former pitcher with the Phillies, poled a homer in the second. Score: Philadelphia .010 000 004—5 5 2
St. Louis .001 010 000—2 12 1
Oeschger, Couch and Henline; Dickerman, Dyer and Gonzales.

GIANTS SLUGGERS POUND
RED HEAVERS FOR 17 HITS

CINCINNATI, July 22.—The New York Giants went on a batting spree today knocking Donohue out of the box in the second inning, hitting Sheehan freely and winning the third game of the series from Cincinnati 9 to 4. Barnes allowed only three hits up to the ninth when the Reds bunched six singles for four earned runs. Ryan stopped the rally. Score: New York .321 010 110—9 17 1
Cincinnati .000 000 004—4 9 0

CAARPENTIER WILL MAKE LAST EFFORT

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 22.—George Carpentier, French heavyweight, will make one last endeavor to re-establish himself as a light heavyweight of the top rank when he steps into the ring against Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, at the Polo Grounds Thursday night. Carpentier will enter the ring with Tunney a favorite but those who have seen the French brawler getting trounced at Great Neck, L. I., predict that the Carpentier who meets Tunney will be a vastly improved fighter over the one who was dropped for the count at Boyle's Thirty Acres in 1921.

The remainder of the card is composed of an eight round semi-final match between Paul Berlenbach, New York middleweight, and Augie Ratner, middleweight; and an international match between Harry Mason, lightweight champion of England, and Paul Fritsch, of France, and a six-rounder with Jimmy Delaney of St. Paul and Leo Gates, Mohawk Ind., as principals.

Year's First No-Hit Game

The first hitless game of the big league goes to the credit of Jesse Haines of the St. Louis Cardinals, who turned in a pitching classic against the Boston Braves, scoring a 5-0 victory. Haines walked one batter in the first, and two in the sixth. These were the only men to reach first base. No Cardinal player was charged with an error and not one hard chance was fired at any fielder during the game.

DAILY PUZZLE

Three men set out to fill a tank with water. The tank had a capacity of 53 gallons. At the end of every three minutes the first man brought a pint of water. The second man brought a quart at the end of every five minutes. The third man brought a gallon at the end of every seven minutes. How soon was the tank filled, and which man brought the last load of water?

Yesterday's answer:

The idea, however, has nimble possibilities, like July skiing and huns that lay four-minute eggs. There ought to be a closer union between athletics and amusements. There are some forms of sport that are bad enough, and others that should be twice as bad.

I think it would be a very good idea if the baseball fellows would hold a picnic reception before each game and meet all the fans face to face. This might not work out beneficially for the umpires, particularly Mr. Ducky Holmes, who seems to be rather unfortunate in the type of fan he selects for company, but as a whole I think it would work out just dandy.

For one thing it would bring the fans and the noble heroes of the diamond closer together, and that is after all, the main purpose of the Versailles treaty.

The man in the bleachers is just a whole-souled, lovable fellow who belongs to the fans, the Moose and the W. C. W., and who drives a blower and isn't ashamed who knows it. In short, he is a plain, simple human being and the sooner Babe and Ty Cobb know it the better for all concerned.

There is another angle to consider. How do you suppose Babe and Ty feel when some fan lifts his voice in greeting during the game, and calls out, "Hello, you big hun, or 'G' pursue yourself, you large hunk of tripe!"

It may be the voice of an unknown. Chances are 10 to 1, or even 12 to 1, considering the humdrum, that neither Babe nor Ty knows the identity of the person. How then can either of them be expected to pause and raise his cap and acknowledge the courtesy?

The idea of bringing the players and the fans together in a sort of openhouse meeting before the game would go far to remedy this evil situation. It is high time anyway that

DANVILLE WINS IN ONE BIG INNING—M'DONALD AND RESCO GET HOMERS

Danville evened the count with Durham by taking yesterday's game with ease, the final score being 6 to 3. The visitors presented Pitcher Ledbetter, popularly known as "Slats," as their boxman. Danville relied upon Laurence Wilson, or "Lefty," as the fans all know him. Ledbetter is a slow ball hurler and succeeded in getting by for two innings, but lost the game in the third when the Tobaccoists staged a hitting spree in which five hits for 11 total bases netted them four runs, all of them earned, or enough to win the fracas.

Pitcher Wilson should not have been scored on until the eighth when the Durham men bunched four singles, which netted them one earned run. From the 4th to the seventh innings, inclusive, Wilson retired the Bulls in order save in the sixth when Smith got on by Trefry's error. In the eighth, the upset Brummitt rapped a slow grounder to short, which bounded slowly and high in air. Myers trapping it as it reached the ground and throwing to first, but too late to head off the spiriting batsman. Then Smith poked a single into short center, and Lennox rapped another into right, and finally Kearns batted one to third. All four of these hits netted one run, and that was all Durham should have had.

Bourg opened the game with a hard drive to left, the ball plainly eluding Trefry and rolling far, enabling the Durham manager to reach third. Mallonee whiffed the only strike out of the game—and then Jones poled off a little slow roller just within first-base line. Resco came in to take it, but Jones worked the delay advance toward first, and while Resco was touching him out, Bourg threw to the plate for a judgment, for a fielder standing between first bag and the plate to let a man score from third while he was touching out the batsman who had become a base-runner. He did not even attempt to throw to the plate. Better coaching should have directed him to get the man trying to score, even if he lost the batsman going to first.

Durham's second run came in the third. With one down, Brummitt singled to center. Smith followed suit, and Regan, coming in to handle the ball, let it get away from him, and Brummitt scored. The next two men were both put out on flies to Regan. The third was Danville's fat inning. With one out, Trefry opened with a hit to left and then stole second. Myers tried to Kearns for the second out, but Staley rapped a line drive to center, scoring Trefry and he himself taking second on the throw-in to the plate. Then McDonald almost scooped up a low pitch from the grove and sent it high in air until it soared over right field fence. Resco, second baseman, duplicated McDonald's feat. Those four runs spelled victory.

In the fifth Myers got on when Lennox let his roller go through him. Staley was out, but McDonald was walked, apparently by intent. Resco, a left-handed batsman, then crossed the Durham defense by lining a hard drive to extreme left. Myers and McDonald both scoring. Danville got two hits, a sacrifice and a stolen base in the sixth, but failed to score. In the seventh they got two hits, but Resco, who had singled, tried to go to third on Cochlin's single to left, and was thrown out by Jones.

In the eighth, with the bases all occupied, Manager Bourg sent in Catcher Hayworth to hit for Ledbetter, but he popped up to Myers. That necessitated sending in another pitcher in the eighth inning, and "Smilin' Joe" Caviness, otherwise known as "Smoky Joe," took up the burden. He retired Danville in order on three infield traps. Smith making a good stop in handling Ernst's hard bouncer.

Want Big Crowd.
The poor attendance at the game was very discouraging to the manager. He would like to see a hard fought game, a team in Danville and he assembled one which is now close to second place. After the large attendance on Ladies Day, most of them free, just 23 ladies came yesterday and paid to see the game. He had some one else pay for them. The receipts from the gate are running far behind and must be boosted if the team and the league are to finish the season. In all fewer than 275 people saw yesterday's game, excessive crowd.

Today the final game of the Durham series will be played, the home being 4:15. Pitcher Shoaf will probably do the hurling for Manager Murphy, leaving Harris and McWhirter and Wilson to work in High Point in the remaining games of the week.

Greensboro, the best drawing card in this city, is scheduled to play here next Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday Monday will be Ladies Day, but it has been suggested that part of the sport in Danville make next Tuesday a sort of testimonial to benefit for Owner-Manager Murphy.

To make Tuesday Dollar Day in local baseball and then make specific effort to get a record crowd will help materially in meeting pay-roll, and the heavy expenses.

The rights of the fan received consideration. No fan likes to call a ball player a fat-head without having the salutation returned. Even a "sam" to you and many of them would help a little.

The moral of this is plain for the Bull Montana's ears. Don't say "Ye Mam" to an Irish traffic cop.

BY FURNITURE MAKER

GREENSBORO, July 22.—High Point swamped Greensboro this afternoon 13 to 5 and evened the series. It was a very good game until the eighth inning, when the Pointers made four runs and sent across four more in the ninth. It was an unmerciful slaughter for the two innings. Fielding features were furnished by Phil Harris and McWhirter and Wilson. Henderson got three hits out of three attempts, including a home run and a two bagger. Carro hit safely four times in as many attempts.

Detroit Takes Lead By Licking Yanks As Senators Split

TIGERS, YANKEES AND SENATORS ALL CROWDING FOR TOP PLACE POSITION

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 23.—Detroit's lead in the American League saw-saw again in the ascendancy today as a result of the Tiger's second straight victory over the Yankees. A half game margin separates the two leaders, and Washington, by virtue of an even break in a double-header, still holds third place at a distance of one game.

Babe Ruth muffed Woodall's long drive after a hard run furnished the break which turned the tide of victory in Detroit's favor and the obnoxious ultimately downed the Yankees 3 to 1. It was the Tiger's eighth successive win and the twelfth of their eastern trip.

Reaching Thurston for only five hits, Washington dropped the opener of a twin bill to Chicago 4 to 0, but came back in the second to score a 1 to 1 decision over the White Sox.

Orden distributed six hits among as many men in the final.

Danforth had to come to Lyon's rescue in the ninth. He got a double over Philadelphia. The Browns made the most of the six binds they obtained from Hasty, Harris and Meeker.

Boston managed to win its first game in 12 starts by a 4 to 3 victory after an eleven-inning tussle with Cleveland. Finnlich tied the count in the ninth by slamming out a homer with one on.

After dropping the first two games of the series to Cincinnati, the Giants found themselves with a vengeance registering 17 hits for a 9 to 0 triumph. Barnes had the Reds to three hits for 8 innings but yielded to Ryan in the ninth after the home team had bunched six hits for four runs.

Tim McNamara pulled Boston out of the slough of despond by holding Chicago to three safeties and one run while his team mates accumulated three tallies in the initial encounter of a double-header. The Cubs took the second by 8 to 1. Hartnett cracked out his 14th and 15th circuit blows of the season in the Sunset tilt.

Jupiter Pluvius kept his flood gates closed just long enough to permit Brooklyn to overcome Pittsburgh by 4 to 1 in five innings and elect the Pirates from third place. The Robins traded the Cubs by half a game and trail the Cubs by four.

A third straight defeat by Philadelphia by a margin of five to two launched St. Louis on a losing streak which bids fair to parallel its recent winning streak.

The gift of a traveling bag from admirers, Joe Schultz hit a home run.

For the Game's Sake

By LAWRENCE PERRY

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)
NEW YORK, July 23.—From the southwest wafts word that the college football eleven that have Baylor upon their schedules this fall would do well to watch out. The writer spread this word of warning by request so that none of the Waco bear's opponents will view meeting them with the fatal over-confidence that characterized Texas University last fall. Texas, as will be recalled, was defeated, whereas the conquerors of Vanderbilt and Texas A. & M. had looked for an easy victory over the Waco outfit.

Baylor's material this year is much better than last and this seems to be the one thing needed to give them the edge, as far as college is concerned, upon their colleagues of the southwest conference.

Athletic wisecracks figure that when the season ends next November the standing of the leading conference eleven will be as follows: Baylor University, Texas University and Texas Christian University.

The complete southwest conference roster is as follows: Texas University, Texas A. & M., Oklahoma A. & M., Southern Methodist, Rice Institute, Baylor, Texas Christian University and Arkansas University.

With the passing of the famous Olympic "whales" has come a new sort of whale, the college bred leviathan, big, lithe, fast, active, strong. Harry Steel is the best called forth to stand as specimen.

Steel, who was captain of the Ohio State University wrestling team last winter—he played three seasons on the football eleven—was the largest man upon the American Olympic team and one of the largest in the Olympic meet. Here are the figures: Height, six feet three inches. Weight, in condition 210 pounds.

Chosen for the American wrestling team as an alternate, Steel did not enter the final and won the Olympic title. Back in January, 1923, a rawboned country boy came to the Ohio State gymnasium and told Al Haft, the wrestling coach, that he would like to wrestle although he had never had experience in the game. Haft told him to strip for action and when Steel came forth the coach bowed low, said "how do you do" and at once proceeded to make him the sensation of the western conference.

Nothing is more romantic from an athletic standpoint than Steel's meeting with Big Jim McMillan, the all-American guard and at the time of his first bout with Steel, heavyweight national champion, McMillan's greater experience told at the end of eleven minutes.

But in 1924, having gained in strength and in knowledge of the mat game, Steel encountered McMillan a second time and took adequate revenge for that first beating.

Talking Honey

By G. L. FERGUSON

(No. 14)

A bee's sting is less than 1-32 of an inch long. But when plunged into a tender spot in the human anatomy it feels like a man-sized dagger.

Ordinary bees aren't so stingy as to sting as many people suppose. Stray bees, away from their hives, in the fields or in the house are almost always harmless, if let alone.

If fought or crushed they will probably sting in self-defense. When bees are swarming and on wing, or even if clustered on a tree, they seldom sting unless interfered with. In most of the cases where horses or persons have been seriously stung by swarming bees it has happened that the horses or persons have switched their tails as they passed through the swarm, crushing and infuriating the bees until the whole horde turned upon them. Under such circumstances a swarm of bees may become highly dangerous.

A bee's sting is sharp, barbed like a fish-hook, and filled with a poison which is forced into the wound made when it is plunged into the flesh. The sooner the sting is removed, the quicker the hurt will stop. If a bee's sting is left in the wound, don't try to pull it out as you would a thorn. That only forces more poison in. Rub it off with the edge of your thumb nail, and the hurt will usually stop almost immediately.

Beeskeepers are sometimes stung many times a day, but rub the stings away so quickly that they scarcely bother them.

Serious results seldom follow one or two bee stings. In the few cases where a person has such results followed, there has been either a disorderly general condition, or an overwrought nervous system, with exaggerated fear of the consequences. If attacked and stung repeatedly, remove the stingers quickly and call a doctor. Otherwise get rid of the stings and forget the hurt.

The nominees and his advisers are undertaking a careful assessment of the general situation in the light of the entry of Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, into the political arena. They anticipate that practically all of the Republican insurgents in both the Senate and House will lend their support to LaFollette and from the Democratic side in the Senate they would not be surprised if Senator Dill of Washington, threw his political lot in with Senator Wheeler, of Montana, who has taken second place on the LaFollette ticket.

Nelson of Wisconsin, LaFollette's national campaign manager. Standing, left to right, are R. T. Wood, and Herman L. Ekern, attorney general of Wisconsin.

TO MAKE PROBE INTO COLLISION OF TWO VESSELS

Rammed Liner, Boston, Lying Beached With Terrible Hole in Her Side

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW PORT R. I., July 23.—The Steamer Boston was lying beached here today, showing a gaping wound where the bow of the tanker Swift Arrow on the port side crushing three passengers to death and fatally injuring another off Point Judith, 10 miles south of here just before midnight Monday. All of the passengers brought to New York Fall River, a score suffering from minor injuries, continued on their journeys.

Federal steamboat inspectors were to begin an inquiry today to determine the responsibility for the collision.

The Boston, according to port Captain T. Snow, of the Eastern Steamship Line was moving slowly through the fog at anchor in the harbor of Block Island Sound and had stopped to let a schooner go by, just before the crash came. The tanker, he said, was sighted soon afterward and whistle signals were exchanged. The signals apparently were misinterpreted and the prow of the tanker rammed the Boston on the port side forward of the forward funnel, killing two men and a woman as they lay in their berths. Several of the passengers narrowly escaped death, but they were pinned in their bunks behind steel plates and timbers. Clifton B. Carberry, managing editor of the Boston Post occupied the cabin next to that of Charles O. Cooke, who was fatally injured, was held a prisoner until a way could be cut to reach him.

The first order after the collision was to close the bulkheads. Passengers were taken care of, made Fall River with a large Guard placed by the Redding Company at whose dock she tied up. The Boston's sister ship, the New York, which was on her way to Boston, and stood by the distressed vessel from the time of the collision until she was towed to the Newport harbor where she was beached.

Attempts to identify the dead followed.

Women Smokers Few In Virginia

RICHMOND, Va., July 23.—Publication in The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot of a story on smoking by women in public has brought many confessions in Virginia cities and towns as to how far the habit has progressed in the fairer sex.

In Richmond, women seldom are seen smoking in public during the day. Occasionally, however, at night one sees the fiery end of a gold-tipped cigarette, either between the dainty lips or fingers of women riding in automobiles. At several hotels and restaurants in the evenings it is not uncommon to see smoking among the women. The practice, however, has never developed on a large scale, as is evidenced by the fact that the native Richmond still turn or stop to look at the woman who braves the public with her cigarette.

New Big Advance In Cotton Prices

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 23.—Cotton prices made another big advance at the opening today reaching new high levels for the movement with cotton selling at 23 1/2 and December at 27 1/2 to 75 to 85 points above the previous close.

The market was affected by reports of the dry weather in the southwest and by heavy purchases for the cotton of Wall Street and western interests which seemed to have turned their attention from grain to cotton.

SISLER'S SIGHT GRADUALLY RETURNING TO NORMALCY

ST. LOUIS, July 23.—Baseball fans generally throughout the country have noted with satisfaction this season the work of Manager George H. Sisler of the St. Louis Browns and the hope is now entertained that eventually his impaired vision will become normal.

Voted the most valuable player in the American League during the 1922 season, Sisler was stricken with influenza in February, 1923, and his condition was aggravated by sinus trouble and tonsillitis, resulting in impaired vision which caused his retirement from the game for the 1923 season.

For a time it was feared that his baseball days were over but Sisler gave his eyes a careful, patient course of treatment and rest.

The Sportsman

By WALTER CAMP

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)

NEW YORK, July 23.—There are some sore spots due to the Olympics, of which we are likely to hear more or less upon the return of our athletes to this country.

One of these was the failure to send Frank Hussey into the sprints and another was not letting Jole Ray run in his favorite distance.

On the whole Walter Christie, coach of the field events, seems to have come out nearest the top. But Louis Deb Handley with his women swimmers deserves all the credit he has—and will receive.

Johnny Weissmuller not only made good in France, breaking a record and living up to his reputation in every way, but defeated at least one of the Australians, who had been regarded by his countrymen as unbeatable.

Mrs. Wightman, paired with Miss Willis for doubles, has again proved herself to be America's most skillful doubles player. Her genius was never more brilliantly displayed than when she and Miss Willis defeated Mrs. Shepherd-Barron and Miss Colver, with the English women leading 5-4 in the last set.

Mrs. Wightman's strategy and knowledge of all the ins-and-outs of the game of doubles was the factor that pulled the match out of the fire.

So far as maybe known, all our Olympic athletes in the various sports withstood the climatic changes very well, although American athletes who participated in the meet with British athletes in London after leaving Paris seemed to have been unanimous in the feeling that the British weather conditions were more conducive to their performances than had been the case in France.

Tunney Favorite Over Carpenter

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 23.—Geno Tunney will enter the ring as favorite did Georges Carpentier, in their 15 round bout at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night. When arrangements for the match were concluded by Jimmy Johnston three weeks ago, the American light-heavyweight champion had been called, but in the meantime Carpenter had enjoyed a steady rise.

Francois Descamps, the Frenchman's manager, anticipates a premature ending of hostilities, with his protégé the victor. He predicts Tunney will not last more than five rounds. Billy Gibson, Tunney's director, is equally confident that Georges will go down for the count in the sixth set-to.

Both battlers will rest today in preparation for tomorrow's struggle.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER
By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Robert Marion La Follette's chief counsel and assistant during his campaign for the presidency will not be his campaign "manager," nor any one of the half dozen or more "progressive" leaders who are active in his behalf. When he wants real political wisdom and advice, La Follette will get it right at home. Not by introspection. Not by seeking the more youthful viewpoint of Bob La Follette, Jr. But from the tried and true source that has proven its merit through his campaigns for the past 40 years—Mrs. Belle Case La Follette, his wife.

Probably no other man in public life today has had as direct and efficient aid from his life partner, in solving his political problems, as La Follette has had from his helpmeet. From the time of his first campaign for Congress, back in 1884, through his terms as governor of Wisconsin, where he first affected his theories of democratic Republicanism, and throughout his 20 years in the Senate, fighting a minority fight within his own party, Mrs. La Follette has had a large part in the research and study necessary for the preparation of his speeches and articles. And her moral support, bulwarking his own ideals and resolutions at times when he seemed to be leading a forlorn hope, has been even more valuable.

The La Follette partnership dates back to the days immediately following their marriage in Madison, Wis., in 1881. Prior to that time, through their college years, they had been rivals, each seeking to excel the other in scholastic honors.

La Follette had entered the University of Wisconsin from the small town of Primrose.

Miss Belle Case, who was later to become Mrs. La Follette, matriculated the same year, from the village of Baraboo.

Both were interested in history, political economy, theories of government and similar subjects.

Young La Follette wasn't going to let any girl get ahead of him, so he pitched into his studies with added vim. Miss Case, who as Mrs. La Follette was later to become an active advocate of woman suffrage, set out to show that a girl could know as much about politics and government as any boy.

The scholastic race was a tie. Meanwhile, the competition which first brought dislike soon changed the attitude of each of the young folks to respect, then to admiration.

Before graduation, Dan Cupid had ended all rivalry with one of his well-placed arrows. The next document they sought after getting their diplomas was a marriage license.

And that fall they both entered law school.

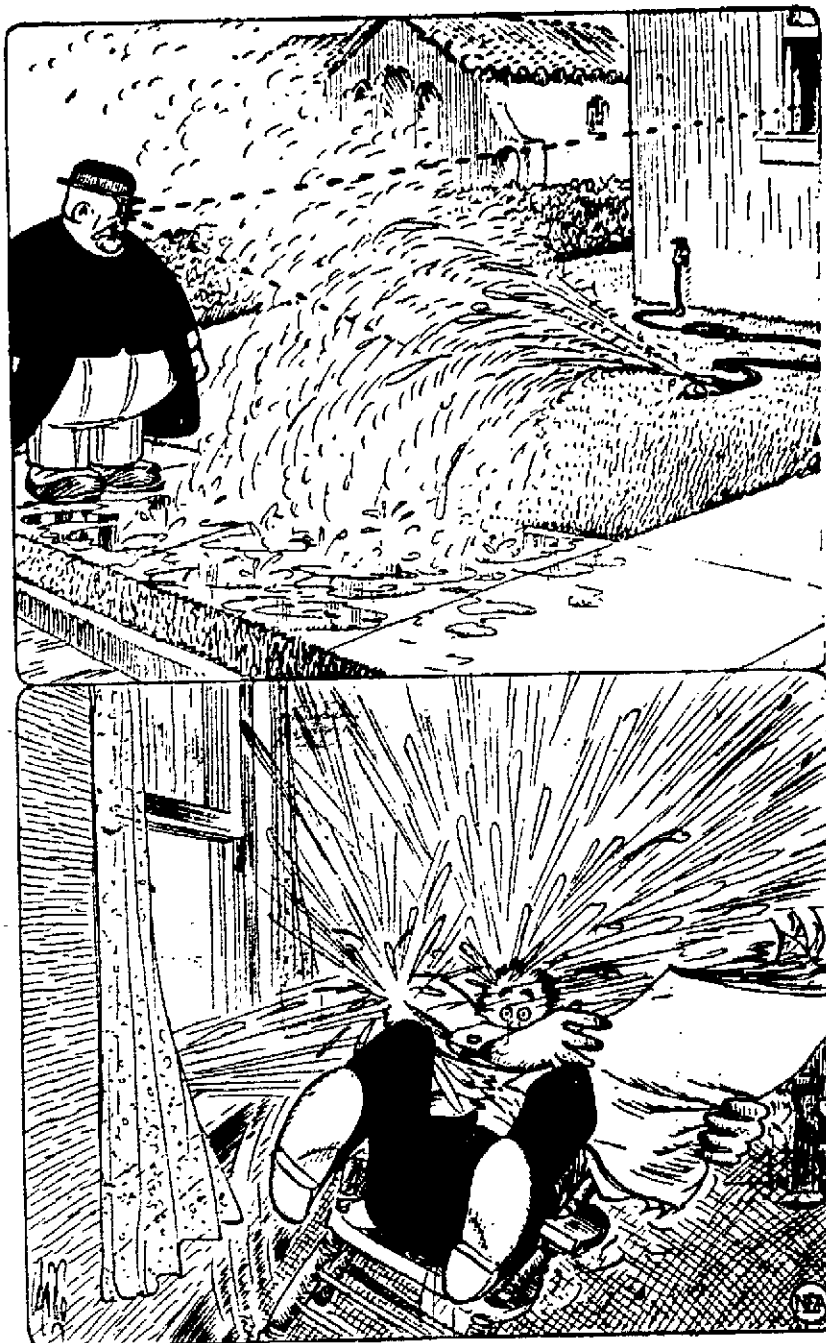

When La Follette set up as a lawyer, Mrs. La Follette became a working member of the firm. She bridged cases, acted as index clerk, did much of the research necessary in preparing cases for trial.

This position as right-hand assistant to her husband she still holds.

An alert, rather stocky, gray-haired but energetic woman of the so-called "intellectual" type, Mrs. La Follette has not had to make her husband's interests her interests. They have been that from the first.

So next to Bob himself, "Mrs. Bob" will have the biggest say how to attack the problems of the independent campaign.

NEW YORK, July 23.—R. L. Smith, ballyhoo historian of New York, who has told the history of Gotham and its sights to nearly 2,000,000 people in the past 15 years, comes from Manhattan, Kas.

Smith is the announcer on an excursion boat that sails around the island twice each day, carrying tourists and sightseers from all corners of the country.

"New Yorkers seldom make the trip and few of them know anything about their own town. They take everything for granted," he declares.

A bachelor of 50, Smith, who lives in mid-town, participated in the Erie Creek gold rush in 1895 and has been on the vaudeville stage and in minstrel shows. In the 15 years he has been telling the world about New York has had worn out three bottles, but his voice hasn't been worn in the slightest. Six hours a day he spouts without ever skipping a syllable.

During the winter season he conducts sightseeing parties about Havana, Cuba. "I never had been in Havana when I took my first party down," he admitted. "But I studied guide books and histories. Then I spent several days locating the points of interest. I knew more about the place than the people who lived there."

That's what he did when he came to New York 25 years ago.

How deep is the water—and is it salty? Are the questions most often put to Smith by tourists, he claims.

Smith keeps up a running fire mon-

Two Mayors Run Flint's Affairs

FLINT, Mich., July 23.—This is a city with two mayors.

And both are trying to run its affairs.

David R. Cuthbertson, recalled at a special election July 15, refuses to abdicate the mayor's office to Judson Transue, elected, with the aid of the Ku Klux Klan, to serve out the unexpired term of eight months.

With Cuthbertson still holding down the mayor's easy chair and still riding in the mayor's big limousine, Transue, duly sworn in, is walking to work and conducting the city's official business from the city clerk's office.

Betty Sturdivant, official secretary to the mayor is having the busiest time of her career.

When anybody drops round to see the mayor, she is compelled to ask, "Which mayor?"

Transue, immediately after being sworn in, went to the mayor's sanctum to take charge. Cuthbertson, however, still sat in the "big easy chair at the mahogany desk.

And he refused to budge a foot.

He asked Transue if he personally would undertake the putting out job. Transue replied he might, if "it wasn't for the fact that he was suffering from sciatic rheumatism."

"You couldn't put me out, anyway," retorted the husky Cuthbertson, once a lumberjack.

"Don't be too sure about that," replied his rival. "I used to be a pretty good boxer."

Cuthbertson was swept into the mayor's office in April, 1923, largely through the women's help. But soon after he took up the reins, recall rumblings began to be heard.

They materialized this spring, and after the recall had carried, Cuthbertson became a candidate to succeed himself. He received 10,034 votes against 11,483 polled by Transue.

Cuthbertson, however, contends there were irregularities in the tally. In one precinct, more votes were cast than there were voters, he insists.

And he'll stay in office, he declares, until he is "thrown out."

TENN. FARMER KILLS SELF.
(By The Associated Press)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 22.—Thomas J. Stafford, 52, tenant farmer of near Cleveland, in Bradley county, shot and killed himself this morning after wounding his son-in-law, Clyde Mowery.

The latter testified before the coroner's jury that his father-in-law shot him from ambush several shots striking him in the face. Sterling Stafford, son of the deceased, testified that his father after coming home blew the top of his own head off with a double barrel shotgun. Mowery and his wife are separated and a divorce suit is pending.

EDITOR JAILED ON CONTEMPT OF COURT CHARGES

Feeling Runs High Between Factional Groups In New Mexico

(By The Associated Press.)
EAST LAS VEGAS, N. M., July 23.—Still incarcerated in the San Miguel county jail, although executive clemency was extended him, Carl C. Magee, Albuquerque, publisher, today awaited action by the state supreme court on a writ of habeas corpus that he hopes will bring him freedom. Following his conviction yesterday in District Judge Leahy's court on contempt of court charges, Magee was sentenced to three months in jail.
Sheriff Del Gado refused to release the publisher last night, after receiving notification that Governor J. F. Hinkle had pardoned Magee as he did in the case of a former conviction a year ago in Judge Leahy's court. The sheriff based his refusal to release Magee on the grounds that the governor had no pardon power in the case of contempt of court charges.
Adjutant General Skipwith, of the New Mexico national guard, who motored here from Santa Fe with official notification of the pardon, made an effort to secure permission from the governor to call on the national guard to release Magee. Falling in this, the adjutant general made no further effort to release Magee and counseled peace when a group of the publisher's sympathizers gathered in the downtown district in a demonstration and offered their assistance in releasing him.
Feeling ran high between factional groups during the night but there were no untoward occurrences.
Magee's imprisonment is the result of a long fight he has waged through newspapers against what he has referred to editorially as "corruption of courts" and other charges was preferred against him more than a year ago as a result of editorially attacking J. W. Markham, chief justice of the New Mexico supreme court.

MORNING STOCK LETTER

(Thomson & McKinnon)

NEW YORK, July 23.—The Federal Trade Commission decided as that what is known as the Pittsburgh plus case against the U. S. Corporation does not suppose it is going to make a penny's difference with the buyer or the seller because the price of steel is governed by the law of supply and demand and when in demand it is urgent buyers pay the price whether it is called Pittsburgh plus or some other place minus. We won't have to pass the hat around to take up a collection for the company.
Yesterday there was continuous profit-taking from the opening to the close and at the close there were more gains than losses and on the average stocks closed at a new high. Profit-taking will become more and more of a factor as stocks go higher. But as matters stand today every little recession will find a lot of new buyers sitting.
I see no reason to modify bullish views.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 23.—Conflicting price movements on the opening of today's stock market, with leading steel issues manifesting heaviness on the federal commission's order directing abandonment of the "Cost Plus" U. S. Steel dropped to 101 3/4, copper and oil shares, however, continued to move upward and popular rails were in demand. Chesapeake and Ohio touching a new 1924 high.
Buying later became of a more selective character for foreign oil, grain carrier and sugar company shares. Several representative issues reached the highest levels of the current rise but the general advance was retarded by the lagging tendency of the steel shares and profit-taking in various specialties, such as Davidson Chemical. New 1924 high records were established by Union Pacific, Great Northern pfd., Northern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Illinois Central, Omaha, Union Tank Car and Liggett and Myers issues. A two point rise in Union Pacific carried that stock to 142. Local traction issues fell back slightly. Foreign exchanges opened steady.

NEW YORK COTTON.

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 23.—The bull movement in cotton gathered decidedly headway today when Wall street and western interests also prominently identified with the recent upturn in grain, turned their attention to cotton and bought new crop deliveries on a big scale.
Prices reached new high levels for the movement, October selling up to 24.12 and December to 23.72, or 27 to 28 points above the previous close. Better reports from the dry goods market and the fact that hoppers in the southwest were limited to a comparatively small area helped to stimulate the buying movement. Early trade generally was broader than it has been in many weeks.
Liverpool, featuring another small crop, also was very strong and higher.

FIRST BEER BOTTLED

LONDON, July 23.—A toast to the memory of Benjamin Kenton, the first beer bottler of all time, was drunk with fervor and enthusiasm at a dinner of the ancient vintners' company here recently. It was Kenton who discovered the secret of bottling ale so it could pass through changes of climate without popping its cork.
Autos and men are alike in that both go faster down hill.

System Violation of Clayton Act

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 23.—The Pittsburgh plus system of determining steel prices is held by the Federal Trade Commission to be not only an unfair method of competition but a violation of the Clayton act, in that it is a means of price discrimination. In an order directing the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiaries to abandon the system by which rolled steel products shipped from various points are quoted at the Pittsburgh base price plus freight charges from that city to destination, the commission says that it is a method of price fixing not founded on the law of supply and demand.

THROWS ACT ON MOTHER

(By The Associated Press.)
LEBANON JUNCTION, Ky., July 22.—A masked woman, appearing in the yard at Sundown, walked to the porch where Mrs. Lillian Woolridge and her mother sat last evening, hurled acid in Mrs. Woolridge's face and fled. Town Marshal Leslie was informed today.

Everyman's

FORTY-SEVENTH ARTICLE

Keeping In Touch.
Investors are continually advised by financial authorities to "keep in touch" with the status of their securities. They are told that conditions affecting trade and industry constantly change and that these changes are bound to have an effect upon the companies in which they are interested and so upon the bonds or capital stock of those companies. This is all perfectly true and very important, but the average investor does not know how to keep himself informed. Usually also the amount of time he can spare for this purpose is strictly limited. As has already been pointed out in this series the best plan for such an investor is to have his list periodically revised by some competent authority. Here are, however, some things he can do for himself provided the security is the obligation of a corporation which publishes regular earnings statements and gives the holders of its stock and bonds information as to its business.
Conspicuous among corporations under this classification are United States Steel among industrial and American Telephone & Telegraph among public utilities and this is one of the reasons why the obligations of both those corporations meet with so much favor among the great mass of investors. Both of these companies have adopted this enlightened policy with happy results.
Nor is there now any excuse for anyone really interested not keeping posted on the progress of the railroads in general or of any railroad in particular. Every week the financial pages carry a report of the car loadings showing the rise and fall of traffic on the railroads as a whole. Every month there are published earnings statements of all the large roads showing how operating results compare month by month with those of the preceding year. The railroads are obliged by law to make these monthly reports and the information is available to all. In much the same way public utilities make regular statements which should be carefully studied by those interested.
This is all useful information, but a word of caution is necessary. Fluctuations in earnings are not vital unless the trend persists over a considerable period of time. One bad month does not impair the standing of a security any more than one good month establishes it. Even the results of one year are not necessarily conclusive. These are simply averages which show which way the wind is blowing but the wise investor will take notice in time to make inquiry as to what it all means. If he is unwilling to go to this trouble, he should entrust his financial affairs to someone else.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.
(By The Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, July 23.—The cotton market had a very firm opening to Liverpool cables proving very much better than due. First trades showed gains of 35 to 44 points and prices continued to advance during the early trading until October traded at 27.35 and December at 27.05 or 74 to 75 points above the previous close.
Active covering and more or less trade buying were in evidence, the advance being due to high temperatures in the belt generally and damaging hot winds reported from the west. The market showed a tendency to react slightly at the close of the first half hour of trading.
